Report on Celebration of Janmashtami

Janmashtami, a Hindu festival, celebrates the birth of Lord Krishna, the eighth avatar of Lord Vishnu. Observed on the eighth day of the Hindu calendar month of Bhadrapada, it typically falls in August or September. Devotees fast, sing devotional songs, reenact scenes from Krishna's life, and participate in lively processions. Dahi Handi, where young men form human pyramids to break a pot of curd hung high, is a popular Janmashtami tradition.
