

Manav Rachna International Institute of Research and Studies

Report on Celebration of Ganesh Chaturthi

Ganesh Chaturthi, a significant Hindu festival, celebrates the birth of Lord Ganesha, the elephant-headed god of wisdom and prosperity. Observed during the Hindu month of Bhadrapada, typically in August or September, it involves the installation of Ganesha idols in homes and public places. Devotees offer prayers, perform aarti (rituals), and immerse the idols in water bodies, symbolizing the deity's return to his abode. It's a time of great festivities, cultural performances, and community bonding.

