In order to facilitate the education opportunity for students and scholars who have young children and who are mothers to young dependable children, the university has set up a free crèche facility (BLOOMZ) within the campus, service with proper child health care facilities for the young mothers. This has been a very popular and successful initiative to provide access to women students and employees to pursue their university engagement without worrying about their responsibility towards their children.

At BLOOMZ, children are nurtured in a truly comfortable and natural learning environment. More than morals, efforts are made to inculcate good habits among the tiny tots. They are engaged in playful games and are taught counting, sizes, and shapes.
