

Manav Rachna International Institute of Research and Studies Report on Celebration of Eid-E-Milad

Eid-e-Milad, also known as Mawlid al-Nabi, observes the birth anniversary of Prophet Muhammad in the Islamic lunar month of Rabi' al-Awwal. Devotees gather at mosques for special prayers, share meals, and exchange gifts. Street processions, lectures on the life of the Prophet, and acts of charity are common customs. It's a day of spiritual reflection and unity among Muslims, celebrating the teachings and virtues of Prophet Muhammad.
